

Privacy Policy

1. Opening an account

To open an account with ParadTrade, you need to fill in and submit the form, enclosing the corresponding documents. By filling in the form, you transmit private information, which the company will use to assess and guarantee compliance with the laws and regulations of financial services regulations. The information is also used to notify you about the company's services.

2. Personally identifiable information

We share personally identifiable information with third parties for statistical purposes only, in order to improve the company's marketing strategy according to the terms to which you have agreed.

3 Agents

In order to make deposits and withdrawals to and from your account, we use the company's card processing company to process your deposits and withdrawals on bank cards. This company does not retain, distribute, store, or use any personally identifiable information or personal information for its own purposes.

4. Confidentiality

All personal information submitted to us will be treated as confidential. It will be used only within the company, its subsidiaries, company and its business partners and will not in any way disclose it in any way to any third party, except the cases regulated by law, as well as for the purpose of collecting statistical data in order to improve the company's marketing strategy. Web-tracking systems may also collect data about pages visited, points of entry, frequency of visits, etc. The resulting data is used to improve the content of the site and may be used to contact you in any way we can and provide you with information we think is important to you.

5. Liability for use of information

We reserve the right to disclose your personally identifiable information in accordance with laws and as may be necessary to protect the rights of the company and/or the public. Necessary to protect the company's rights and/or present documents in a court of law, to enforce an action or other action authorized by law.

6. Right of Choice.

If you no longer wish to receive the introductory. If you no longer wish to receive orientation information, you may choose not to receive it by following the the instructions offered in each application. You will be notified when data is transferred to third parties who are not our agents or service providers. In this way, you will be able to choose, whether or not to share your personal information data to a third party.

7.Cookies

A cookie is a small text file that is. A cookie is a small text file that is stored on a user's computer for the purpose of log. We use cookies on our site. We record any personally identifiable information that you enter while you are on our site. We use session IDs and persistent cookies. A session identifier does not expire when you close your browser. Persistent cookies stays on your hard drive for an extended period of time. time. You can delete persistent cookies using the the instructions provided in the help section of your "help" on your browser. We collect persistent cookies for statistical purposes. These cookies also allow us to track and record the geographic location and interests of our users, and with that, improve the services on our site. If you refuse cookies, you will still be able to use our site, but you will not be able to use Traders Room option and filling out the form. Some of our business partners use cookies on our site. We do not have access to these files and cannot manage them.

8.Security and protection of your personal information

The personal information you provide when you registration as a user of the site or its services is classified as registration data. Registration data is protected in a number of methods. You can access your registration information by entering a password of your choice password. This password is encrypted and only you know it. You must not share your password with anyone anyone else. Registration data is stored on secure servers, accessible only by authorized personnel. Access is password-protected. The company will encrypt all personal data as it is company and, therefore, makes all necessary efforts to prevent unknown persons from viewing such unauthorized persons. Personal information provided to the company, which personal information provided to the company, which is not registration data, is also on secure servers and is only available by password to authorized personnel. You cannot gain online access to this information, so a password to view or change data is not offered.

9. Access to personal information

If your personal information changes, you It is your responsibility to notify us by contacting at support@paradtrade.com

10. Liability for Use of Information

We reserve the right to release your personally identifiable information to the public. personal information in accordance with the laws and as may be necessary to protect the rights of the company and/or its subsidiaries and/or affiliates. necessary to protect the company's rights and/or present documents in a court of law, to ensure enforcement of lawsuit or other act authorized by law on our website. We are not responsible for any false use or loss of personal information relating to those cookies on our site to which we do not have access. We are not responsible for unlawful or unauthorized use of your personal data, whether caused by transmitting your password, using it negligent use, or use with malicious intent.

11. Changes to our privacy statement

If we decide to change our privacy policy, we will post the changes to this document on the appropriate page on the website and in such other places as we deem appropriate in order to accommodate changes in our privacy practices. We will post changes to this policy on the relevant page of the site and in such other places as we deem appropriate in order to notify you of the information we collect and the ways we collect it how we collect it and when we do so. We reserve the right to change this document at at any time, so please keep it up to date. Update it. If we make changes to our policy, we will notify you in this section, by email or a notice on our page.

12. Collection of Information

The company may collect information obtained directly from the customer (as provided on the registration form account registration form) or from others, including credit reference agencies, credit reference agencies or financial institutions. bureaus, institutions specializing in fraud prevention organizations, and other financial institutions and government registrars.

13. Obligations of confidentiality

Data of the client shall be treated by the company as confidential and may not be used for any other 13.1 client data has been treated by the company as confidential and may not be used for any purpose other than those connected with the provision, administration and improvement of the services, research and statistical purposes, marketing purposes (in the case of the consent of the client, acting as a natural person), as set forth below below. Information that is already in the public domain available to the company or has been transferred to the company without observing confidentiality regime, is not confidential. The client agrees that the company has the right to disclose personal information (including records and documents personal information (including personal records, bank card information and personal data) in the following cases:

A) In cases provided for by law and competent court;

B) At the request of the regulatory authorities in whose jurisdiction the company or the customer is located, as well as their and their subdivisions and authorities in whose territory the the company's activities take place;

C) At the request of services investigating cases of fraud, money laundering and other illegal

D) At the request of the executive bodies or third parties if they are necessary to execute instructions or orders of the client for purposes incidental to the the performance of services;

E) At the request of credit bureaus and organizations;

E. At the request of credit bureaus and organizations specializing in fraud prevention and investigation teams and other financial organizations, in order to verify creditworthiness fraud prevention, anti-money laundering funds, and to identify or make a preliminary assessment of the client's client's intentions. In this context the following may be carried out verification of customer data specified in any form or database (public or non-public) to which it has available. Client data may be used in the future to help other companies with the verification of identity. The archives of the requests are kept by the company;

E) To the company's professional advisors.

In each such case, the appropriate consultant shall be the confidential nature of the information and shall undertake to inform the company of the confidential nature of the information. The nature of the information and undertakes to maintain its confidentiality.

G) Service providers

Service-providers that create, maintain or process databases (both electronically and in analog form) provide archival storage, email service, messaging service messaging service or similar services that are designed to assist the company in the collection, storage, processing and use of customer data, as well as to contact the client or to improve the quality of services in accordance with this agreement;

H) service--providers that specialize in the transmission of data; And) other service--providers for statistical purposes to other service--providers for statistical purposes to improve the company's marketing policy - in such cases, the information is information is provided in averages;

K) Call-- centers of market research conducting telephone or email surveys to improve the company's services company;

L) In any cases in which the company is protecting its statutory rights;

M) At the request or consent of the client;

H) To the company's subsidiaries.

14. Right of access

In the case where the client is a natural person, the company uses, stores, processes and transmits personal data of the client in accordance with the law on personal data processing act of 2001. If the client is a natural person, the company, at the the company is obliged, at the client's request, to provide the client with a copy of the of the personal data stored by the company, subject to the client pays the administrative costs.

15. Transmission of data

By entering into an agreement with the company the client consents to the transfer of personal data outside the european economic area economic area, in accordance with the act on the processing personal data of 2001.

16. Archives

Under the terms of the applicable regulatory documents, company retains archives containing personal data, trading information, documents for opening account opening documents, correspondence and other data concerning the client. Client for five years or more after the expiration the term of the agreement.

17. Recording

Telephone conversations between the client and representatives company representatives may be recorded. Recordings are the exclusive property of the company. The client may obtain the recordings as irrefutable evidence of orders, instructions, inquiries, or communications with representatives of the company.

18. Contacts

The client accepts that the company may contact client directly by telephone, fax or other means in order to clarify the terms of agreement.